

CULTURE

Attention Hollanov hive: you could win a trip to the season two premiere of Heated Rivalry

And it's in support of a great cause

BY CARLY LEWIS | JUNE 18, 2026

 Add Toronto Life

If you couldn't get to The Cottage, and six months of Reheats aren't quite hitting the same, there may be another way to get a dose of Heated Rivalry-related dopamine.

In partnership with LGBTQ+ charity organization Rainbow Railroad, the Heated Rivalry creators are offering a pair of tickets to the season two premiere—yes, it's coming—along with accommodation and airfare to get there.

Related: “This was a fictional world, but it still felt healing”: Heated Rivalry star Harrison Browne on blazing a trail for trans athletes

“Every entry helps to support Rainbow Railroad, which is a cause and an organization that is super important to me and super close to my heart,” showrunner Jacob Tierney said in an announcement.

A donation isn’t necessary to enter, but if you have the means, the more you give, the more chances you’ll have to see season two before anyone else.

Good luck, Hollanov hive!

Related: “A lot of work goes into simulating nudity”: How Heated Rivalry’s intimacy coordinator choreographed the show’s steamiest sex scenes

Carly Lewis

Carly Lewis is a journalist whose work has appeared in the New York Times and the New York Times Magazine, Vanity Fair, Wired, Interview Magazine, Pitchfork, Elle, and Maclean's, where she is a contributing editor. Her work has been recognized by the National Magazine Awards and the Digital Publishing Awards. She reports on city life, culture—including what people do online—politics, art and crime. She received the Dave Greber Freelance Writers Award for “The Murder of Ashley Wadsworth,” an investigative feature about a Canadian teenager who was killed by a man she met on social media, published by Maclean's.

DEEP DIVES

293 Days Without My Son: I gave up everything to rescue my kidnapped child from my abusive husband

DEEP DIVES

The Violent Life of a Tow Truck Driver: How an unremarkable profession turned Toronto into a war zone

DEEP DIVES

Toronto Life's* most popular long-reads of 2025

DEEP DIVES

How Not to Get Away With Murder: The stranger-than-fiction story of the Stoney Creek killing

DEEP DIVES

Pathological Lawyer: Inside the multimillion-dollar embezzlement case against attorney Singa Bui

DEEP DIVES

Starry Nights: Untold stories from the Toronto International Film Festival's first 50 years

INSIDE THE LATEST ISSUE

The June issue of Toronto Life features the best new restaurants of 2026. Plus, our obsessive coverage of everything that matters now in the city.

