Buckle up for another trip to the cottage. This November, Regal Cinema is hitting rewind on Heated Rivalry with special screenings of the series at participating theaters across the U.S.

For just $9.99 a ticket, fans can watch two episodes of the hit Crave Original series back-to-back Nov. 6-30, at more than 275 Regal locations, including AMCs, Cinemarks, and more. Loons, as Heated Rivalry fans call themselves, can catch paired screenings of "Rookies" and "Olympians," "Hunter" and "Rose," and "I'll Believe in Anything" and "The Cottage," and bask in the sunshine of their favorite series.

The screenings will feature special welcome content from the series' cast and directors, and participating locations will also serve limited-time cocktails inspired by the show: Summer in Montreal and Russians Don't Blush. The show's arrival is heralded by Regal, which is distributing the show in theaters.

The theatrical event follows a big year for Heated Rivalry, which took home 16 Canadian Screen Awards, including Best Drama Series, Best Directing, and Best Lead Performer for Williams. The series earned a Peabody Award, a Television Academy Honors Award, and a GLAAD Media Award for Outstanding New Television Series.

Based on Rachel Reid's bestselling novels and created by Jacob Tierney, Heated Rivalry stars Hudson Williams as Shane Hollander and Connor Storrie as Ilya Rozanov, two hockey players whose on-ice rivalry is complicated by their attraction to each other. A making of season one book by Tierney, I'll Believe in Anything, came out this month.

Book your tickets online at regmovies.com, amctheatres.com, and cinemark.com.
